October 22, 2026

Recognition reflects three years of sustained growth in revenue, profits, and shareholder returns

BOCA RATON, Fla., Oct. 22, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Red Violet, Inc. (NASDAQ: RDVT), a leading identity intelligence and analytics company, today announced that it has debuted at No. 43 on Fortune's 2026 list of the 100 Fastest-Growing Companies. The ranking recognizes publicly traded companies that have delivered sustained growth in revenue, profits, and stock returns over a three-year period.

"We're honored to be named to Fortune's Fastest-Growing Companies list for the first time," said Derek Dubner, red violet's CEO. "This recognition reflects the combination that drives our business: differentiated, proprietary technology, a relentless focus on our customers, and a team that executes at a very high level. Delivering growth in revenue, profits, and shareholder returns is what we aim to do, and we believe we are still early in red violet's evolution."

Now in its 41st year, the annual ranking is based on a quantitative review of publicly traded companies. This is red violet's first appearance on the list. It follows the company's recognition in November 2025 as No. 107 of 500 companies on TIME's inaugural America's Growth Leaders ranking.
